Penicillin Allergy Skin Test

On May 10, 2016, Munson Medical Center Pharmacy staff will have the ability to administer a penicillin allergy skin test to patients with documented penicillin allergy to determine if the patient has a true allergy to penicillin. Pharmacy will perform the skin test and document the results within PowerChart.

You will need to enter a consult to pharmacy in order for the patient to have a penicillin allergy skin test completed. Results are located in Results Review under the Immunology tab.

Once testing is complete the pharmacist will determine if the patient has a positive or negative penicillin allergy. The pharmacist will enter the results in the patient’s allergy profile. The results will be viewable on the Banner Bar or Allergies on the Menu.
