

Bargaining Update – October 26, 2018

The twentieth set of bargaining sessions between Munson Medical Center (MMC) and the MNA occurred on Thursday, October 25, 2018, and Friday, October 26, 2018.

This week's meetings continued to focus predominately on the many aspects of scheduling, including the process for regular scheduling, weekend scheduling, and holiday scheduling. These are important issues for nurses, as well as MMC and the patients who depend on us.

We reached a tentative agreement on language for holiday scheduling.

We continue to get closer on language the regarding regular scheduling process, the scheduling and coverage of patient needs on weekends, and the use and scheduling of nurses who float between units.

The next set of collective bargaining sessions will be on November 7 and 8.
